

FILADELFIA

autor: Gabriela Majcher

MUSEUM

INDEPENDENCE MALL WEST
6TH STREET

ONE WAY

500 W 800
CHESTNUT ST
JUDGE EDWARD B. BECKER WAY

NO TURN ON RED

ONE WAY

ACME

Tap. Shop. Done.
open the ACME Markets app
order your items online
get delivery or DriveUp&Go

Tap. Shop. Done.
open the ACME Markets app
order your items online
get delivery or DriveUp&Go

Jeffer

ONE WAY

7th St

Market St

NO TURN ON RED

ER ST
ET ST

STREET SIGN

NO PARKING
BUS STOP

Advertisement text on a sign in the bottom right corner.

Broad St

ONE WAY

RIGHT LANE
USES RIGHT TURNS
to 16th St

MASONIC TEMPLE
GRAND LODGE
FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS
OF PENNSYLVANIA

Punishments
18th and 19th Century

Punishments

Punishments

Eastern State Penitentiary
Criminal Us

Statement

Please fill out in full detail.

Today's Date:

2/28/16

I hereby voluntarily make the following statement without threat, coercion, offer of benefit or favor by any persons whomsoever.

I am a teacher, and I stole money
from a student's memorial fund, ($300). He was killed in a car accident, and I helped take donations.

2012
About $81 Billion

Cost of College v. Cost of Prison

The United States
increased prison
spending by 565%
between 1971 and 2012.

$69 Billion
Annual Increase
(adjusted for inflation)

$16,000

Average annual cost per student in a Pennsylvania public university.²

$42,000

Average annual cost per prisoner
in Pennsylvania.¹

Beyond Capone: Prison Gangs Then and Now

Al Capone was not the only Eastern State inmate with ties to organized crime. He was just the most famous.

Some inmates arrived at Eastern State with close connections to outside criminal gangs. Others formed new criminal organizations while here. "The Four Horsemen," a powerful prison "clique" in the 1920s, ran a drug, alcohol, and prostitution ring among Eastern State's inmates.

Prison gangs have flourished in the modern era of mass incarceration, in which the U.S. prison population has grown to historic levels. Fewer than 3% of U.S. prisoners identified as gang members in 1986; today, the number is 20%.

In many U.S. prisons today, gang membership is considered a way of life and a means of survival.

Intake

The rooms past this gate contained the intake and parole offices. They were the first and last stops for Eastern State's prisoners.

Identifying prisoners has always been challenging. In the early 1800s, officials recorded physical characteristics of incoming prisoners, and even the inmates' habits, such as drinking alcohol. These records could be used to identify repeat offenders and to track escaped prisoners.

Mug shots must be consistently updated to be useful for identification. Above: Eastern State mug shot photography, c. 1905. Photo courtesy of the Pennsylvania State Archives, RG-15 Records of the Department of Justice, Bureau of Corrections, Press Office.

Narrator

Dennis Neugin
Supervisor, State Correctional Institution at Graterford
Eastern State Guard, 1996-1970

Al Capone's Release

Al Capone was an international celebrity in 1930. His release from Eastern State Penitentiary drew movie cameras, hundreds of on-lookers, and maybe even a few enemies. They gathered outside the prison's only door, all hoping for a glimpse of the famous Chicago gangster.

Hoping for a glimpse: Prison officials feared the crowd in front of Eastern State on March 17, 1930 might include some of Capone's enemies, waiting for his rare public appearance. When Warden Smith announced that Capone had already been released, many people in the crowd did not believe him. Five hours later a small group continued to hold out hope. Photos: courtesy of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania (HSP), Philadelphia record photo morgue [V07], call# V7-694.

But Warden Herbert Smith had other plans.

Narrator

Elizabeth Williamson
Tour Guide
Eastern State Penitentiary Historic Site

ROCKY

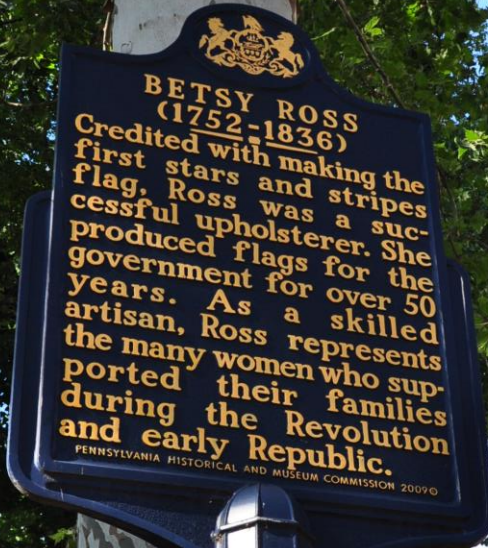

MUSEUM SHOP

LITTLE REBEL

MUSEUM SHOP

EXIT ONLY

One Upon A Nation
Free Stories

A blue historical marker mounted on a silver pole. The marker features a gold crest at the top and text in gold and white. The background shows a tree trunk, green foliage, and a white building with an American flag.

BETSY ROSS
(1752-1836)
Credited with making the first stars and stripes flag, Ross was a successful upholsterer. She produced flags for the government for over 50 years. As a skilled artisan, Ross represents the many women who supported their families during the Revolution and early Republic.
PENNSYLVANIA HISTORICAL AND MUSEUM COMMISSION 2009©

MUSEUM SHOP

LITTLE REBEL

MUSEUM SHOP

10 11am to 4pm
Once Upon A Nation
The Story